Registrar,

The applicant submits that any finding the Luciferian creed lacks sincerity or does not constitute a protected creed under the Code would require the Tribunal to apply a higher or different standard of scrutiny to this minority belief system than is applied to established religions.

Under Syndicat Northcrest v. Amselem (2004 SCC 47), sincerity is subjective and the Tribunal is not to judge the validity or "truth" of the belief. The applicant's creed — redemption through confrontation with darkness, radical honesty, and artistic expression — is genuinely held, as evidenced by years of consistent practice, artistic output, and willingness to endure severe personal harm for its public expression.

To find otherwise would privilege mainstream religious beliefs over novel or minority ones, contrary to s.1 (creed) and the equality guarantee in the Code.

The applicant requests the Tribunal consider this in any assessment of the Application's merits.

Regards,
Brendan Rose
